richard clark returns as ernest hemingway

Relive the era from World War I through the inauguration of John F. Kennedy from the perspective of “the greatest writer since Shakespeare”.

Experience the tragedies and triumphs, the joys and sorrows, the sacred and the profane, and the loves and losses of one of the 20th century’s greatest literary figures.

More than 45 years after his death, Ernest Hemingway is one of the most widely read and written about American authors. From the hospital in Milan where he first found love to the Idaho resort community where he ended his own life, this is the story of a remarkable life – a rough and tumble journey into the heart, mind, and soul of the master craftsman considered by his peers to be “the greatest writer since Shakespeare”.

Richard Clark has spent over 30 years in New England regional and New York theater. He is a graduate of Clark University and has studied at the American Academy of Dramatic Art, the Actors Connection and the Actor’s Loft in New York. His “Keeping History Alive” series brings the life and work of figures such as Mark Twain, John Barrymore, and William Shakespeare to life.
